Physical, Speech and Occupational Therapy for Children

Chrissy Barnidge, OTR/L

Chrissy received her Bachelor of Science degree in Occupational Therapy from Saint Louis University in 2002. She has experience serving pediatric and adult populations in a variety of settings including: inpatient hospital rehabilitation, school-based therapy, outpatient clinic, and home health environments.

Chrissy specializes in Sensory Integration and Autism Strategies, and is a certified provider of the Therapeutic Listening Program. She also has training in handwriting interventions, dealing with challenging behaviors, and prevocational/transition planning. In addition, she has personal experience from growing up with a family member with classic autism and severe sensory and communication issues. This firsthand experience allows her to truly relate to families so she can better educate and help them address their needs.
